Blackwood Football Club (BFC), located in the south eastern suburbs of Adelaide, experienced a once in a generation growth in participation numbers due to the introduction of female football leagues. BFC recognised an opportunity to upgrade their facilities to encourage greater participation and to provide changing facilities appropriate for both males and females, as well as participants from culturally diverse backgrounds.

Through Ausco Modular's partnership with SANFL, the club welcomed football's first modular sporting facility in metropolitan Adelaide. Ausco provided the 389m2 high-specification unisex changeroom facility which also includes a dedicated umpires' changeroom, medical room and storage area. The facility complies with the AFL Preferred Facility Guidelines and features a sound-rated operable wall to provide further functionality of the changeroom space and cubicle showers for player privacy.

"It could be a really muddy day and when they're finished they have the opportunity to go into the changerooms and then stay at the club for presentations, so we avoid that 50/50 decision of coming back to the club," said Club President Kris Winchester.

"Without hesitation we recommend Ausco for the construction of modular changerooms. Well done to the Ausco team on delivering an exceptional project."
